La quinta vía y el diseño inteligente (Spanish Edition) Felipe Aizpún Viñes

La inferencia de una causa inteligente a partir del orden observable en la Naturaleza presenta históricamente dos discursos aparentemente distantes. La tradición anglosajona recoge el argumento de diseño propio de los autores clásicos y le incorpora el conocimiento científico más avanzado desembocando así en la corriente actual del movimiento del Diseño Inteligente. La tradición escolástica por su parte se basa en la Quinta Vía tomista que reconvierte la perspectiva aristotélica finalista de la filosofía de la Naturaleza en un argumento teleológico de carácter exclusivamente filosófico. Algunos autores contemporáneos defensores de esta tradición se han querido distanciar del movimiento del Diseño Inteligente y de sus críticas al paradigma científico dominante. En este libro el autor defiende que el diseño y la teleología que se manifiestan en especial en los seres vivos no son sino las dos caras de una misma moneda y que ambos discursos presentan una estructura lógica similar y unas conclusiones coincidentes. Argumenta también que la crítica científica resulta imprescindible para sostener la existencia de una teleología real en la Naturaleza, lo que hace que ambas tradiciones estén abocadas a entenderse y apoyarse en la lucha frente al naturalismo ontológico imperante.
